

Brick type: Abbey Red Multi Village Harvest Multi

Location: York

Project Architect: Bellway Homes
Developer: Bellway Homes

The Croft in Heworth Green, York, uses Forterra's Abbey Blend as the main brick. This scheme of one and two bedroom apartments and two and four bedroom homes makes the most of the available space and incorporates landscaped garden areas, a reclaimed Edwardian sunken garden and summer house which all help to create a feeling of space and tranquility.

The Croft

The Croft in Heworth Green, York, uses Forterra's Abbey Blend as the main brick. This scheme of one and two bedroom apartments and two and four bedroom homes makes the most of the available space and incorporates landscaped garden areas, a reclaimed Edwardian sunken garden and summer house which all help to create a feeling of space and tranquillity.

York has a rigorous planning approval process and Bellway worked closely with planners to ensure that The Croft, which is situated in a conservation area and backs onto the River Foss, blends into the local environment.

Abbey Blend has a light texture and features hues that vary from dark red through to pale orange. The contrasting brick on the scheme is Forterra's Village Harvest Multi, which is light textured and buff in colour and makes an interesting detail around the windows.

York has a rigorous planning approval process and Bellway worked closely with planners to ensure that The Croft, which is situated in a conservation area and backs onto the River Foss, blends into the local environment.